Dear Neighbor,

In the last year we've witnessed the increased need for gathering in person to explore, interact, and imagine. Perhaps it's a 3-D printer that draws a crowd, or a conversation about civil rights, or an independent film maker and author defining his craft. Partnering with local organizations has increased our program offerings and our sense of community. Learning how to use new technology, encouraging early literacy, and providing fun and enriching activities for tweens and teens, provide a framework for lifelong learning.

The Guilford Free Library offers a wealth of activity, whether it's silent, solitary reflection or community conversation. It has a variety of materials--classic and trendy, new and old, familiar and unknown. All of this is with thanks to you, our supporters. Your contribution to our annual Books and More Fund provides all the materials and services that allows our community to grow and thrive.

There are three ways to make your contribution to the 2015 Books & More Fund: send us a check in the enclosed envelope; use your credit card, by phone or in person; or visit our website, www.guilfordfreelibrary.org and select "support our library" to make a secure donation through PayPal.

As always, we extend our thanks for your valuable contribution.

Thank you,

Deborah Abildsoe, President
Guilford Library Association Board of Directors

P.S. Give us your email address to receive regular updates on library events – free for all ages!
